Josh, What is your favorite animal in the farm?
Where does each animal in the farm live?
bye. U

JOSH

That's a good question Uri. Here's grandpa's farm. Each shape is a building.

Can you guess where the chickens roost? Where the cows go? Where are the pigs?

How about the sheep? Where does grandpa sleep? Where does he grow his vegetables?

Where does he keep the corn in the winter?

Ok, here's a rough question which I think I'll try to further refine later, but maybe you can get an idea....I had a picture of this barbershop...I lost the picture, but it was this place in Bay Ridge with wood panels and very considered arrangement of barbershop posters. I've seen you use those specific types of images before, and more broadly employ a similar kind of typological arrangement in your works. Do you remember a time when those posters (if ever?) were something you use to consider a new haircut, then perhaps something as something else, material?
